

Montana Water Rights

Here is an article in the Western Water Rights Wordpress blog that has a full list of all of the objections filed prior to the extension date. As of today, there is not a list of filed objections since the extension date.

If you have not yet filed an objection, take time to read a few and it may help you understand why it is important to file your objection since you only have a few days left.

The deadline is February 9, 2023, for the Water Court to receive objections.
